Microsoft Word 2010: Error message when opening a document that contains a picture that is not supported by the current version of Word. The error message reads: "The picture cannot be displayed. The picture may have been moved or deleted. To help you find the picture, Word searched the following locations: [list of locations]. If you can't find the picture, you may need to insert it again." This error message is caused by a bug in Word 2010. The bug is fixed in Word 2013. To resolve this issue, you should upgrade to Word 2013 or later. Alternatively, you can try to insert the picture again into the document.
